Heads of the two counties had a sincere exchange of views over the announced decision by Finland's leadership to apply for NATO membership.

Vladimir Putin stressed that rejecting the traditional policy of military neutrality would be wrong since there are no threats to Finland's security.

Such a change in the country's foreign policy course could have a negative effect on Russia-Finland relations, which have been built over the course of many years in the spirit of neighbourliness and partnership cooperation.

The Presidents also discussed the situation in Ukraine. In particular, Vladimir Putin shared his opinion of the state of the negotiating process between Russian and Ukrainian representatives. This process has been practically put on hold by Kiev, which does not show any interest in a serious and constructive dialogue.

According to the deputy head of the ruling party Efkan Ala, these two countries should "very clearly reconsider their relations" with the Kurdistan Workers' Party, recognized as a terrorist in Turkey.

According to him, if Finland and Sweden demand to join NATO in order to "eliminate their security problems," but Turkey "also has a problem of terrorism," which these countries should take into account.

"If the European union is really will include this state, where Nazi groups rule the ball and Nazi ideology reigns, which is incompatible with European values, it will mean the end of the European union," said Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Alexander Grushko.

The diplomat stressed that this would show that the European union "is guided not by some values on which it stands and on the platform of which it was created, but purely by geopolitics."

On inhumane treatment of civilians by Kiev – Russian MoD

In Nikolaev, in and around schools No 7, 15 and 35, and in Kramatorsk of the Donetsk People's Republic in schools No 5, 6 and 9, fighters of Ukrainian armed formations have equipped firing positions, deployed armoured vehicles, artillery and MLRS, and are forcibly holding residents of nearby houses in the basements

In Novgorodskoe of the Donetsk People's Republic, AFU units equipped stronghold in Petrovskaya Gora residential area and school No 16 and placed heavy weapons and ammunition storage. However, no civilians were evacuated;

In Severodonetsk, Lugansk People's Republic, artillery and multiple rocket launchers have been deployed by the Ukrainian armed forces on the territory of a chemical plant in close proximity to densely populated residential areas.

The militants, knowing that the victims of such criminal actions would be civilians, deliberately target Russian Armed Forces positions from residential areas, provoking them to return fire in order to subsequently place responsibility for the destruction of civilian infrastructure and possible civilian casualties on Russian servicemen, and spread fakes about alleged "Russian atrocities" through Western media and on various Internet sites.

Such actions by Kiev once again demonstrate an inhuman attitude towards the fate of its own citizens and show a complete disregard for all norms of morality and international humanitarian law. Meanwhile, the countries of the collective West prefer to cynically "turn a blind eye" to the numerous war crimes committed by the Kiev regime.

On “Ukrainian origins” (!?) of the French Representative to the UNO

Russia's Permanent Representative to the UNO Vasily Nebenzya cited geography and history schoolbooks from Ukraine during a session of the UN Security Council on Thursday, to demonstrate how the Kiev government was twisting and rewriting the country's history.

"History and geography curricula were modified the most. I have here with me an 8th grade Geography schoolbook edited by P.Maslyak and S.Kapirulina. According to it," the predecessors of the French, Spanish, Portugese, Turks, and even Jews came from Ukraine," he said. "Let me ask my French colleague: Nicolas [de Riviere, PR of France], did you know you are a Ukrainian? If you do not believe me, go read this textbook. So it says. It has cast-iron logic: since the French are Galls, they came from Galicia, that is a region is Ukraine."

"Did you know that according to this book, Ukrainians and Poles are of a Slavic origin, whereas Russians are Finno-Ugrians? Belarusians were also denied their "Slavic-ness". The book classifies them as a Baltic people etc etc," the diplomat continued.

Why Canada is so pro-Ukrainian? Because of Banderites – Thierry Meyssan

Published on May 13, 2022 <https://www.voltairenet.org/article216785.html>

In article "Canada and the Banderites" the French journalist Thierry Meyssan shows that all Canadian Liberal governments have supported the Ukrainian Banderites since the beginning of the Second World War.

"...for eighty years, Banderite immigrants have been embedded in the Canadian Liberal Party to the point of occupying the number two position in Justin Trudeau's current Government."

"The first foreign fighters to arrive in Ukraine at the start of the war in February, 2022 were Canadians. The first foreign officer arrested by Russian forces on May 3, 2022 was a Canadian general.

Clearly, Canada, although more than 6,000 kilometers away from Ukraine, has a hidden involvement in this conflict."
